AEM Gallery

(713) 816-2877 • www.aprilmurphy.com

In 2009, I was working as a marketing/design consultant for a large bank and was laid off. A few weeks later, I had an acute appendicitis attack that landed me in the hospital for five days. While that might sound like a pair of pretty negative things, it turned out to be the best thing EVER. Those two events slowed me down enough to think about what I really wanted to do with my life. I hadn't picked up a paintbrush in 25 years, but my husband took a photo of our cats one day, and I absolutely loved the composition. Immediately, I had a vision in my head involving bright colors and sharp contrasts. That photo, the lay-off and my yucky appendix set everything in motion... Over 300 paintings and thousands of illustrations later, I am digging my day job and am so thankful that I can make a living doing what I love most. I adore animals and always have some array of dogs and cats underfoot. They are a constant source of inspiration and keep me laughing all the time. I love injecting humor and whimsy into my work whether it has to do with animals or some other quirky subject matter. And it is such a thrill when I see others smiling or even laughing out loud when looking at my work.

If an insured pet becomes sick, or is injured, we pay 90% of the cost of diagnostic tests, surgeries, and medication. We focus on three basic elements when discussing our policy: No dollar limit on approved claims for injury and/or illness, one simple plan and we cover 90% of the veterinary bill less the exam fee and optional deductible. Monthly premiums are determined by the local cost of veterinary medicine, the age of the pet at the time of enrollment, and the breed. Trupanion has no limits per claim, per illness, per year, per category, or over the lifetime of an insured pet.
