AGENDA

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 2010

“Seminar and Social” and “Meet & Greet”

4 CEU Hours

1:00 - 5:30 pm

 Nestlé PURINA

Seminar and Social Presented by ABVP and AAFP

Separate Registration is required.

Come spend the afternoon with Dr. John August as he leads attendees through a series of challenging feline cases. For the clinical conditions presented, participants will develop and prioritize differential diagnoses, develop rational diagnostic and therapeutic plans based on financial resources and specific patient data, and interpret results from diagnostic tests used to evaluate cats with these problems. An extended refreshment break will offer ample opportunity for discussion and interaction with other attendees. Do not miss this opportunity for interactive, in-depth CE while learning from one of the leaders of feline medicine!

1:00 - 2:00 pm

Chronic Weight Loss and Subtle Behavioral Changes, Dr. John August

An 8-year-old spayed female Ragdoll cat with pre-existing chronic kidney disease is presented for routine re-assessment. The owners report no changes in their cat's condition since the last visit two months previously. Physical examination reveals weight loss of 8 ounces since the last visit, and a new grade II/VI sternal systolic murmur.

2:00 - 3:00 pm

Acute Recurring Pollakiuria and Hematuria, Dr. John August

A 5-year-old spayed female cat is presented with a history of recurring signs of pollakiuria and macroscopic hematuria. Episodes usually are associated with the owner being away from home attending professional meetings. Recently and abruptly, the episodes have become severe and less responsive to supportive therapy.

3:00 - 3:30 pm

3:30 - 4:30 pm

Chronic Gingival Inflammation, Dr. John August

An 8-month-old neutered male cat is presented because of reluctance to be petted around the mouth, prompting the owner (a veterinary student) to notice generalized gingival inflammation. There has been no prior history of illness, except mild self-resolving upper respiratory disease 6 weeks previously. Within 2 months of this visit, significant tooth loss started to occur.

4:30 - 5:30 pm

Chronic Sneezing and Stertor, Dr. John August

A 2-year-old neutered male Tonkinese cat is presented with a 10-month history of upper respiratory disease after being adopted from a cattery. According to the owner, clinical signs are associated with fits of sneezing, during which a tenacious mucoid discharge is expelled with difficulty. An intermittent bilateral mucoid conjunctivitis has been noted over the past 5 months. Efforts to treat the patient with antimicrobial drugs have been hampered by patient compliance.

5:30 - 7:00 pm

 Boehringer
Ingelheim

“Meet and Greet” Reception

The AAFP invites all attendees to this “Meet and Greet” Reception. Please join us for an informal reception where you can network with other attendees, AAFP members, AAFP Board of Directors and Committee Chairs.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 2010

DAY ONE

6 CEU Hours

- 7:00 - 8:00 am      Breakfast and AAFP Annual Business Meeting
- 8:00 - 10:00 am      The Cat's Brain: How to Examine and Determine What's Wrong, *Dr. Joane Parent
The neurological examination is the most powerful tool of the clinician that is presented with a neurological patient. A large financial gap exists between the neurological examination and advanced imaging. It is important to maximize the information obtained from the signalment, history, physical and neurological examinations. This presentation reviews the neurological examination using a case-oriented approach focusing on the difficulties that often challenge the practicing veterinarian while doing and interpreting the neurological tests.
- 10:00 - 10:30 am      AM Coffee Break in Exhibit Hall
- 10:30 - 12:30 pm      Diseases that Affect the Cat's Brain, *Dr. Linda Shell
Using a combination of clinical cases and review of diseases, these lectures focus on the different diseases that affect the cat's brain, as well as how to diagnose and treat: FIP, toxoplasmosis, fungal diseases, portosystemic shunt, hypertension, polycythemia, cardiomyopathy, ischemia/hypoxia, toxins (e.g. metronidazole), meningioma, thiamine deficiency, hydrocephalus, hyperesthesia, etc.
- 12:30 - 2:00 pm      Lunch and Visit Exhibit Hall
- 12:30 - 1:15 pm      New Members Lunch and Orientation
If you have become an AAFP member in the last few years, please join us for an informal AAFP Orientation. This luncheon will assist new members in learning more about membership benefits, the structure and committees of AAFP, plus how to get the most out of your membership. Please make sure you indicate on your registration form that you will be attending this luncheon.
- 1:15 - 2:00 pm      ABVP Certification Workshop
Interested in becoming a board certified specialist in feline practice? ABVP's fully accredited certification process is designed for veterinarians who demonstrate excellence in species oriented clinical practice. Those who are curious about the ABVP and the process, or who know they want to pursue board certification are encouraged to attend this workshop.
- 2:00 - 3:00 pm      Watching the 'Cat Walk', *Dr. Joane Parent
The examination of the gait is a crucial element of the neurological examination of the cat, especially when the patient is presented because of a gait abnormality. Using a series of videos, the principles of lesion localization as they concern the spinal cord and the peripheral nervous system will be covered.
- 3:00 - 3:30 pm      PM Coffee Break in Exhibit Hall
- 3:30 - 4:30 pm      Watching the 'Cat Walk' - Part 2, *Dr. Joane Parent
See above for session abstract.
- 4:30 - 6:00 pm      Exhibitors' Welcome Reception
Please join us in the Exhibit Hall for a reception where you can spend time visiting each exhibit booth. Don't forget to get your raffle ticket stamped to win prizes (raffle ticket is provided at check-in at the Registration Desk onsite).

AGENDA

SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 2010

DAY TWO

7 CEU Hours

- 6:00 - 7:30 am 4th Fun Run/Walk
- 7:30 - 8:30 am Breakfast & Visit Exhibit Hall
- 8:30 - 10:30 am Diseases that Affect the 'Cat Walk', Dr. Linda Shell
Using a combination of clinical cases and review of diseases, veterinarians will learn about diseases that result in upper and lower motor neuron signs: myasthenia gravis, diabetic neuropathy, sacrocoxygeal luxation, vascular cord disease, disc herniation, neoplasia, hypokalemic myopathy and other causes of ventroflexion of neck, inherited polyneuropathies, and dysautonomia.
- 10:30 - 11:00 am AM Coffee Break in Exhibit Hall
- 11:00 - 12:00 pm Seizures: How We Put Out the Fire, Drs. Joane Parent & Linda Shell
This lecture focuses on the following questions: Does primary epilepsy exist in the cat and if so how is it treated? What antiepileptic drugs can be used in the cat? How is status epilepticus managed?
- 12:00 - 1:30 pm Lunch and Visit Exhibit Hall
- 12:15 - 1:15 pm "Lunch and Learn," Separate Registration is Required and Space is Limited.
The "Lunch and Learn" will give attendees the opportunity to sit down during lunch with two Neurology or Ophthalmology Speakers. Separate registration is required and space is limited to 20 participants for each "Lunch and Learn." Attendees will have the opportunity to submit questions to the speakers prior to the conference. The speakers will then discuss these questions with audience participation and input.
- 1:30 - 2:30 pm Ocular Examination, Dr. Mary Glaze
As with any organ system, the first step in successful management of ocular disease is an orderly and thorough examination. How can a simple light source be used to maximum advantage? What ancillary tests work best in cats? Is tonometry really necessary? Is there a practical means of improving fundus examination and interpretation?
- 2:30 - 3:00 pm PM Coffee Break in Exhibit Hall
- 3:00 - 4:00 pm That Darned Cat Conjunctivitis, Dr. Jean Stiles
Conjunctivitis in cats is the most common ophthalmic disorder. In many cats the underlying cause may be difficult to determine. Causes of conjunctivitis, as well as diagnostics and treatment options will be discussed.
- 4:00 - 5:00 pm Through a Cloudy Looking Glass: Corneal Disease, Dr. Jean Stiles
Corneal disease in the cat is less likely to be related to trauma than in the dog. Infectious agents that cause corneal disease, corneal sequestra, proliferative keratitis and idiopathic bullous keratopathy will be discussed.
- 5:00 - 5:50 pm Guidelines on Long-Term Use of NSAIDs in Cats, Dr. Andy Sparkes
The ISFM (International Society of Feline Medicine) and the AAFP are pleased to introduce the Guidelines on Long-Term Use of NSAIDs in Cats. This presentation will focus on the data that is supplied in these guidelines.
- 6:30 - 9:30 pm Offsite Event: Crescent City Brewhouse
Separate Registration is required. More information can be found on page 11.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 2010

DAY THREE

6 CEU Hours

- 7:00 - 8:00 am Breakfast & Visit the Exhibit Hall
- 7:00 - 8:00 am ABVP Diplomate Breakfast
- 8:00 - 9:00 am Lids and Lashes, Dr. Mary Glaze
Disorders of the feline eyelid are uncommon but challenging. The same factors that limit conformational defects such as entropion also complicate management of eyelid injuries and tumors. If you prefer to tackle problems that are out of the ordinary, the cat offers options ranging from eyelid agenesis to apocrine cystadenomas. And if cats have no true eyelashes, can they suffer from cilia disorders?
- 9:00 - 10:00 am Uveitis and its Consequences, Dr. Mary Glaze
The clinical signs accompanying feline uveitis are often subtle. When the challenge of documenting etiology is also considered, it is not surprising many cats present with chronic disease and secondary sight-threatening complications such as glaucoma. What are the important clinical signs? What is the likelihood of finding a cause? How do we manage these patients to minimize the risk of glaucoma?
- 10:00 - 10:30 am AM Coffee Break in Exhibit Hall
- 10:30 - 11:30 am No Retina – No Vision, Dr. Jean Stiles
Retinal disease may rob a cat of vision. Systemic or ocular disease with retinal manifestations, including hypertension, and drug toxicity will be discussed.
- 11:30 - 12:30 pm Infectious Disease & Ocular Manifestations of Systemic Disease, Dr. Jean Stiles
Many systemic diseases in the cat may affect the eye. Infectious diseases, systemic neoplasia with ocular metastases, nutritional deficiencies and genetic disorders will be discussed.
- 12:30 - 2:00 pm Lunch & Visit Exhibit Hall
- 12:45 - 1:50 pm Research Grant Presentations
12:45 pm Dr. Elizabeth Rozanski - Comparison of a Simplified Insulin Protocol to a Continuous-Rate Infusion of Regular Insulin in Cats with Naturally Occurring Diabetic Ketoacidosis.
1:20 pm Dr. Corey Saba - Clinical Evaluation of Lomustine Chemotherapy for Feline Vaccine-Associated Sarcomas
- 2:00 - 3:00 pm Feline Ophthalmic Surgery: What Can Go Wrong and How to Keep it from Happening to You, Dr. Jean Stiles
This presentation will focus on what can go wrong in Ophthalmic Surgery and how to keep it from happening to you.
- 3:00 - 3:15 pm PM Coffee Break
- 3:15 - 4:15 pm Ocular Emergencies, Dr. Mary Glaze
Not all emergencies arise from acute causes, a fact aptly demonstrated by the lens that luxates in a chronically inflamed eye. It is rather the sudden change in comfort, appearance, or vision that prompts the owner to seek veterinary care. What ocular problems really require urgent care? Which patients can be handled in-house and which should be referred? How do you keep focused in the face of blood and blindness?
- 4:15 pm Conclusion of the Conference

Please visit the suppliers who are supporting the AAFP through participation at this conference.
